Foreword

- Many students pass between these pillars daily, yet few realize the values they portray. While at Menasha High School, the student may attain many pillars of wisdom, not only in the classroom but also in the many extracurricular activities. It is the intention of the 1963 Nicolet to present these pillars in word and picture in an endeavor to display the complete way of life, both mental and physical, which may be experienced at Menasha High School.

Dedication

- In recognition of his active participation in many school and civic functions, we proudly dedicate the Nicolet to Mr. William Herziger.

Mr. Herziger is secretary of the Menasha Kiwanis Club and has been president of the Menasha Teacher's Union several times since its organization. He is presently vice president of the Wisconsin Federation of Teachers. In 1957 he was named Twin Cities' Man of the Year. Membership on the board of directors of the Winnebago County Guidance Center, the Boys' Brigade, and the Menasha Historical Society also claim Mr. Herziger's time and service.

As chairman of the Social Studies Department, Mr. Herziger has supplied the student body with many enlightening and inspiring assembly programs. In recognition of his contribution in furthering the ideals of our American heritage, he was awarded the Valley Forge Classroom Teachers Award.

It is, therefore, with deep appreciation and admiration that we dedicate the 1963 Nicolet to him.

Variety and Action Spice Our School Life

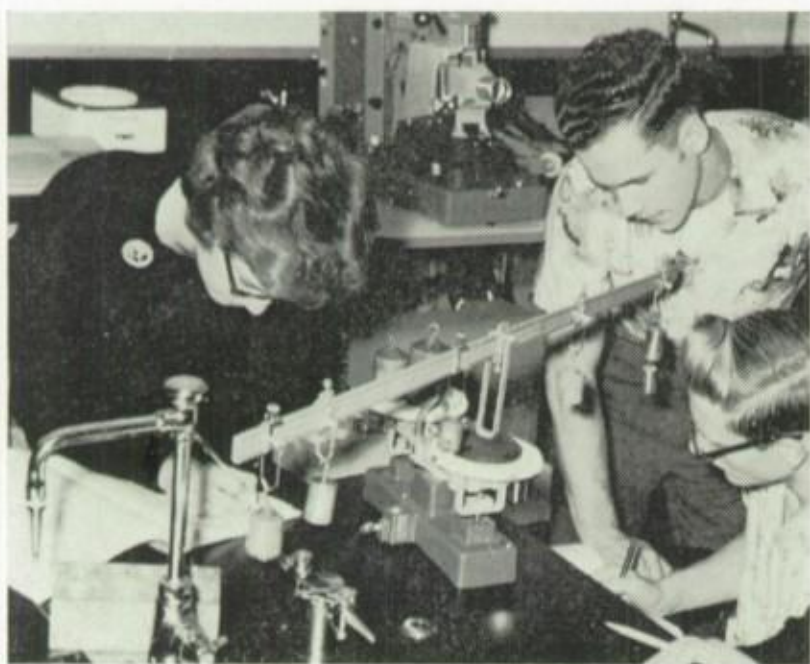

• Extracurricular activities in Menasha High School encourage students to prepare for the future in many ways, two of which are depicted here. Previous to election day, seniors of Mr. Herziger's government class portrayed various candidates running for office and later held a mock election. Students also benefit by clubs, such as F. T. A., in which they learn of and plan for prospective careers.

We Work, We Play, We Study and Learn

- Lab day in the fifth hour physics class was a period of trial and much error. As the students acquired a knowledge of many new instruments, they also acquired the inevitable knack for accidentally breaking them. For each semester one of the experiments performed had to be written in detailed form and an original experiment had to be composed.

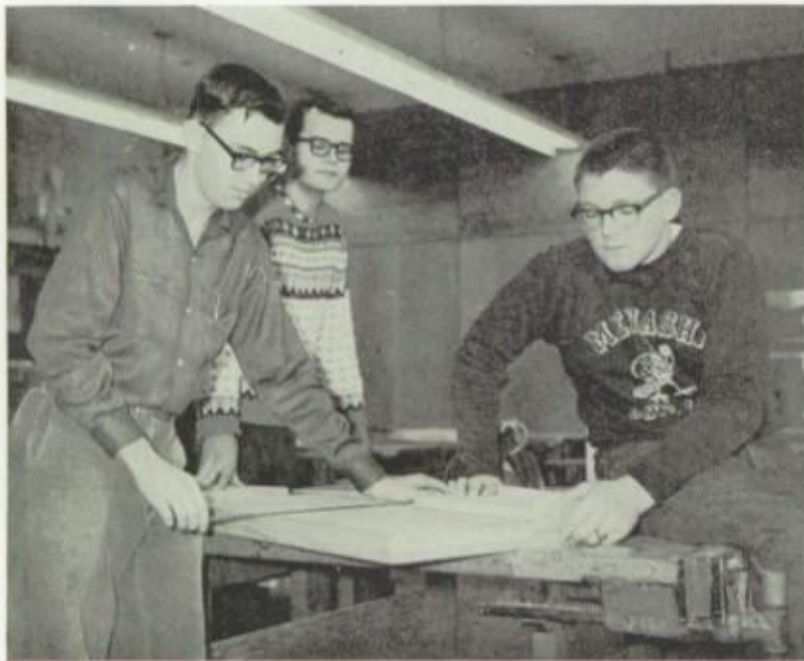

- This year, for the first time, juniors took both American history and American literature. In their English classes these students studied such famed national authors as Henry David Thoreau and Edgar Allan Poe, plus many of the colonial authors, including William Bradford, John Smith, and Cotton Mather.

- General science teaches the basics of mechanical and physical sciences. Students were introduced to it in their freshman year so that they could continue study in the field if desired. This course did not consist merely of a study of the text; outside projects and interesting experiments were included. From these experiments the students gained a proficiency that will be of service to them in other fields of science.

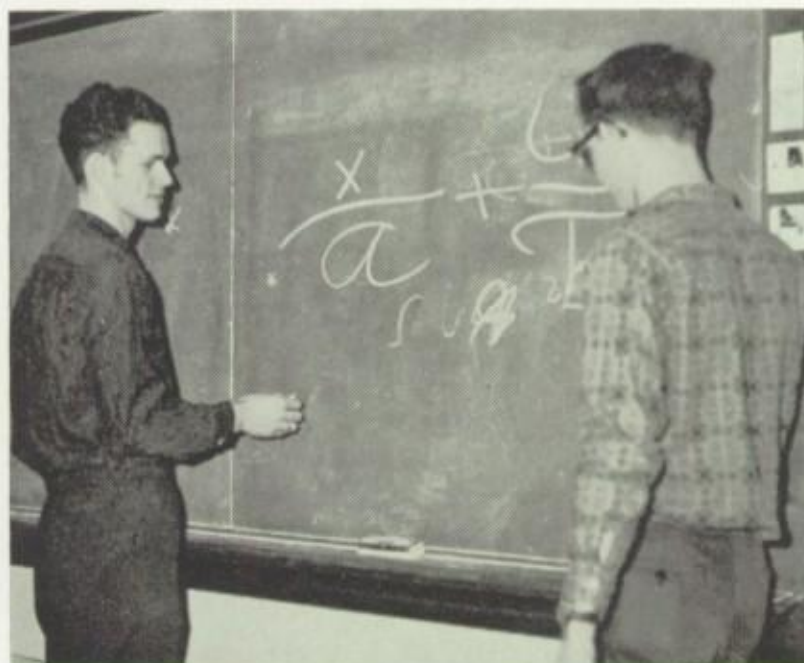

We Find Our Rewards and Win Our Honors

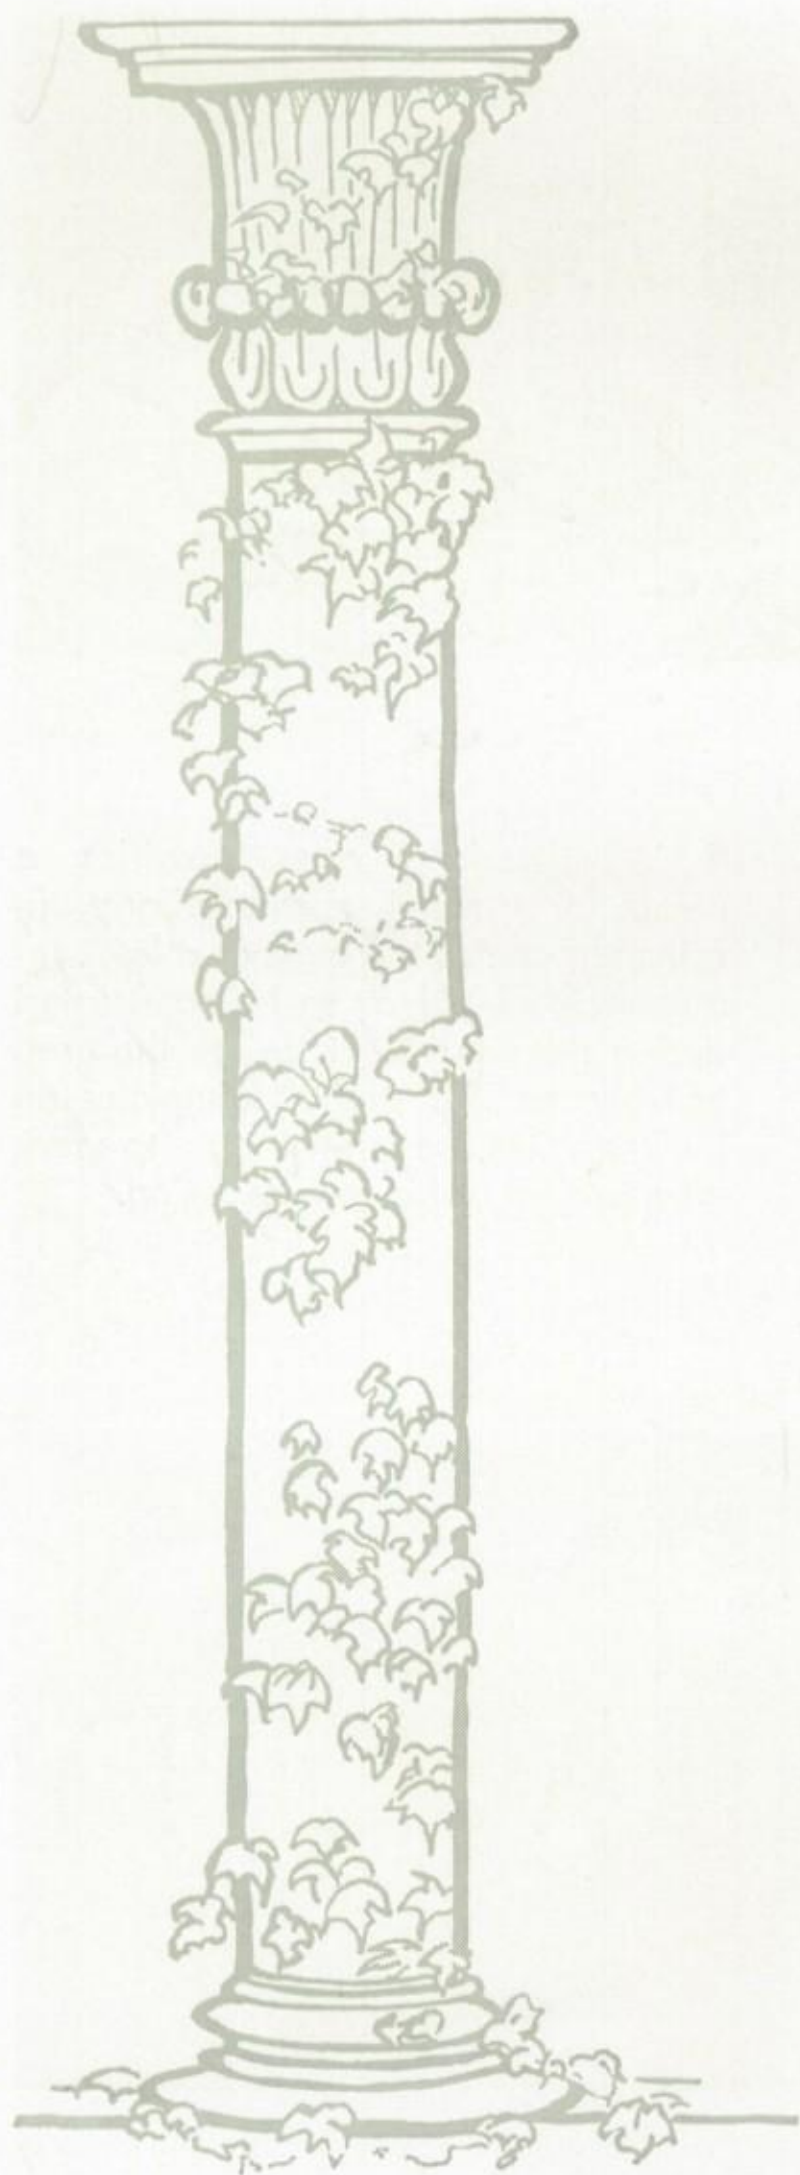

- Taking the manual dexterity tests proved disconcerting to seniors as they tried to poke pegs into the right holes. When the results of these and other employment tests returned, the students benefited by discovering those subjects in which they were strongest. This knowledge, learned through an interview with Mr. Smits, aided them in choosing colleges and careers.

- Woodworking class provides a means for its members to display proficiency in one of the manual arts. A requirement of objects to be constructed during the year is set before the term commences. If a student completes all the requisites, he is then able to work on a project of his own choosing.

- Senior math, a combination of solid geometry, analytical geometry, and advanced algebra, explores probability, families of circles and lines, depth perception, and numerous other mathematical aspects. This past year there was only one hour of senior math and it was taught by Mr. Long. Although this subject is usually taken by prospective engineers, the class is composed of students working toward various goals.

They Introduce Us to Different Concepts

- Mr. L. A. Wienbergen performs various duties. His constant concern is with our school curriculum, but he also acts as the Dean of Boys and enforces school rules. He also conducted in-service teacher meetings which informed teachers of improved methods of teaching.

- This year the main concern of the Board of Education was the addition to the Butte des Morts Junior High School. Consequently, the Freshman Class of next year will be in the junior high school building, thus increasing the facilities of the senior high school.

MR. SHERMAN and Mr. Halversen discuss future plans of the vocational department.

MR. M. J. GEGAN, SUPERINTENDENT

Which Help Us To Develop Our Characters

- The Vocational School Board, working in cooperation with Mr. H. L. Sherman, Vocational Director, saw the fulfillment of several years of planning in the construction of the first floor addition to the printing department and two large classrooms on a second floor.

- Our Superintendent of Schools, Mr. M. J. Gegan, supervises all public school operations. Because of the population expansion, he, along with the Board of Education, has been responsible for the promotion of a well-rounded curriculum for students in the public school system.

Daily They Render Service to Our School

MAINTENANCE STAFF, (1) Mr. Chadek, Mr. Dombrowski, Mr. McHugh. (2) Mrs. Schommer, Mrs. Kurowski. (3) Mr. Szczepanski, Mr. Pozolinski.

• Students of Menasha High School take great pride in the beauty of their school and its campus. However, we often forget that the maintenance staff is responsible for the year-around neatness that we generally take for granted. Without this group's long hours of diligent work the smooth operation and excellent appearance of our school and its classrooms would be impossible.

The secretarial staff also deserves recognition. In addition to rescuing many bewildered freshmen during the first weeks of school, the secretaries assist teachers and students throughout the year by their work in the office. Keeping school records, typing tests, and sending out bulletins are only a few of the valuable clerical services performed by our office staff.

Our health staff strives to remind students of the necessity of maintaining good health habits. Our speech therapist, Mr. LaPointe, works with students to increase their communicative abilities.

ON PARENTS' NIGHT Mr. Lenz demonstrates an experiment in Physics.

• We all appreciate the fact that a teacher's day consists of more than just standing in front of a class. This is evidenced by their participation in such varied sidelights as learning the operation of school machinery, receiving flu shots, and talking with the parents on Parents' Night.

An innovation for our Menasha School faculties during the past year was a series of In-Service-Training meetings which all the teachers attended on the first Tuesday of every month. The theme of each meeting was different and its purpose was to give teachers information that would be helpful to their profession. Among the interesting programs of the year were a description of the available audio and visual aids, a talk on guidance counseling, a discussion of the offerings in the commercial field, and a tour of the various shops in the industrial arts area.

DR. WILLIAM HILDEBRAND, School Board Physician, realizes a student's dream by giving a teacher, in this case Mr. Segebarth, "the needle."

dents secured interviews with prospective employers. Interest, college, and personality tests, in addition to the Wisconsin Employment Service Examinations, almost became routine for us!

It was also the year for determining our class colors, flower, and motto. A committee headed by President Mark Wilterding chose the colors red and white and decided to have roses in both colors at Commencement. "Together We Conquer" became our motto because to us it signified the close, successful spirit our class has shared throughout our four years of high school.

- Although marked as our fourth year at Menasha High School, our senior year was still filled with a variety of new experiences.

Miss Miller, our guidance counselor, was kept quite busy as we prepared for the future. Some of us visited college speakers, discussed our career plans with these representatives, and pondered thoughtfully over our choices, then rushed off applications to wait breathlessly for answers. Many boys decided to answer Uncle Sam's call to the various branches of the armed services while other stu-

With Lasting Memories We Close the Door

REPRESENTING OUR SCHOOL last summer at Madison were Debbie Biggers, Badger Girls State; and Bill Steffin and Dennis Doverspike, Badger Boys State.

- Throughout high school we looked forward to our senior year; and now that we have achieved this enviable position, we find ourselves reminiscing.

Our freshman year commenced with the traditional Freshman Mixer, which helped us become acquainted with our classmates and familiar with their customs. As sophomores we were thrilled when our float, a product of faithful toil, took first place in the Homecoming competition. This was also the year our class rings were chosen by a committee headed by our president, Cassie Bachhuber. In our junior year our float was again successful, and we also displayed our enthusiastic spirits at Prom time. Several Saturday morning slumbers were sacrificed as we strived for a "Dreamland in the Deep." At the end of the year Dennis Doverspike, Bill Steffin, and Debbie Biggers were proud to be representatives of our class to Badger State. The crowning glory of our active four years was the announcement at the burning of the "N" rally that our class had for the third consecutive year copped first place honors in the Homecoming float competition.

In Memorium

DANIEL GRESSLER
July 13, 1945—March 27, 1961

- We will always remember Dan Gressler, who would have graduated this year with the class of 1963, as one whose friendliness and enthusiasm won a ready welcome wherever he went. Invariably he faced the future with cheerful and hopeful optimism. His consideration and interest in others has inspired us to regard people with thoughtfulness.

Now Enter Seniors of the Year Sixty-Four

• After two years of confusion and doubt, the juniors began their third year at Menasha High School with enthusiasm. A typical day found them struggling valiantly through chemistry, acquiring a background in English, absorbing facts in American history, and vigorously participating in physical education classes. In addition to attending their many classes, they found time to take part actively in the many extracurricular activities of the school and to begin planning for their future. Collegebound juniors anxiously awaited their scores on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Pat Kenney, Barbara Brethauer, Judy Cheslock, Sue Riehl, Bill Fitzpatrick, Keith Larson, and George Bauman served their classmates in the Student Senate.

Juniors found first-quarter success in their Homecoming float, "London Bridge is Falling Down," the product of many hours of strenuous effort, and in their class masquerade party, "Around the World in Eighty Ways." Committee chairmen for this colorful event were Kathy Wagner, entertainment; Roxanne Martins, refreshments; Bill Fitzpatrick, publicity; Dan Usky, finance; and Bill Haber, clean-up. Keith Larson, Stan Griesbach, and Bob Dessort won the best-costume prize—a bag of bubble gum.

The highlight of the year was the Junior Prom. As the last of the decorations were put in place, juniors breathed sighs of relief and gave thanks to their advisers, headed by Mr. William Herziger, for helping them to make their Prom a complete success.

PAT KENNEY, PRESIDENT; Barry Conway, vice president; Lorraine Holewinski, treasurer; and Ann Drzewiecki, secretary, filled class offices during 1962-1963.

The Sophomores See Their Goals Unfold

• The sophomore class, whose faculty advisers were headed by Miss Arlisle Wolff, ushered in their second year at Menasha High School with the annual Freshman Welcome Party with music furnished by Bob Piehl. Remembering their own confusion as freshmen, they did their best to make the freshmen feel more comfortable in a new school situation.

This year the sophomores were required to take a course in driver's education in place of one quarter's activities in physical education. Under the direction of Mr. Weede, they learned the fundamentals of driving and of the various traffic laws. The course of study for a sophomore usually consisted of world history, English with Shakespeare's Julius Caesar, a natural science, and various electives.

Sophomore senators played an important role in the Senate's activities. Elected to this organization were Sara Bachhuber, Jim Becker, John Martin, Linda Vanevenhoven, Sue Wiegand, and Rick Zimmerman.

The class has the distinction of being the largest class in school this year—125 girls and 116 boys. They had the added honor of winning second place in the homecoming procession with their float, "We'll Make Hot Dogs out of the Bulldogs."

The proudest moment of the year for the sophomores was the day when they first displayed their class rings in the trophy case. After choosing the ring they wished to purchase, placing the order, and making the initial payment, the class members anticipated the day when the rings would arrive.

Excited and Eager These Freshmen Came

• A combination of anxious cries, running feet, stubborn lockers, and strange hallways marked the beginning of the high school career of the 239 Freshman Class members. After two days of practice, however, they were more assured and entered whole-heartedly into the various pranks at the Freshman Welcome Party. This dance enabled them to become better acquainted with the other students in their class. Led by their class officers, president Don Steffin, vice president Katie Gajewski, secretary Frances Swiontek, and treasurer Paulette Strong, the freshmen actively participated in many extra-curricular activities.

Working together to achieve success in their planning of class parties and floats, the freshmen gained experience helpful for a successful future at Menasha Senior High School.

The Light of Knowledge Is Carried Forth

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY. Standing: Mollon, Konetzke, Robertson, Belau, Steinmetz, Miller, Telin, Cook, Schroeder, Roessler. Seated: Hyson, Jakowski, Vissers, Zielinski, Hyde, Beustrin, Peterson, Flom.

• Menasha High School's chapter of the National Honor Society was organized in 1931. Possibility of membership in this organization begins as students enter Menasha High School in their freshman year.

CHOSEN TO BE LAST YEAR'S commencement speakers were Jack Robertson and Jane Jakowski, who gave a material and an impalpable concept of our world of values.

The announcement of the new members is made annually at the Awards Day Program.

The National Honor Society pin depicts the light of knowledge with the initials of the four requirements for membership: character, service, leadership, and scholarship. Teachers choose National Honor students in their junior or senior year on these merits as shown in classroom and extracurricular activities. Therefore, a recipient must maintain a worthy character, a creditable service record, strong leadership ability, and a high scholastic average.

• Toward the end of each academic year, the various departments present awards to students showing outstanding ability. The English Department annually awards an English Medal to a student from each class. Recipients of this award were Sophomore Jim Walter, Junior Karen McKinnon, and Senior Clayton Miller. Because of outstanding scholarship displayed in the Latin language, Barbara Sitter received the George Dewey Barnes Latin Medal.

Achievements in the field of science were recognized by the Science Department. Clayton Miller received the All Science Award for his broad scientific abilities. The Chemistry Award was presented to Dennis Doverspike while Roger Herman and David McCune were jointly awarded the Academy of Science Award for their ground-effects machine which won second place in the Junior Academy of Science Contest.

The Mathematics Association of America Award was earned by Thomas Schoe-pel for his exceptional ability in the field of mathematics. Richard Grant received the Geometry Medal for his excellent record both on an examination and on his classwork.

- After sixteen years of service to Menasha High School, the Student Senate has again completed a highly successful year.

AT THE STUDENT SENATE INSTALLATION Judge Keller talks with the senate officers, Jeanne Anderson, Phil Strong, Barbara Bretthauer, and Cassie Bachhuber.

Under the guidance of Mr. William Herziger, the Senate has sponsored many worthwhile drives: the annual canned food drive for the needy families of the Twin Cities, the Poppy sale, and the Red Cross drive.

Earlier this year Judge Keller presented an impressive talk at the installation assembly before Mr. L. A. Wienbergen installed Cassie Bachhuber as president. Cassie installed the other officers, Phillip Strong, vice president; Jeanne Anderson, secretary; and Barbara Bretthauer, treasurer; and then the remainder of the Student Senate members. Due to conflicts with other school functions, every other Senate meeting was held during the school day.

This year a suggestion box was made available for students to enter their ideas for various school improvements. Each month the Senate members distributed calendars which listed various school functions.

From Their Senate's "Voice of Democracy"

(1) JUNIORS BOB WENDT, Bob VanDeHey, Pat Hanson, and Barbara Arndt show their Christmas spirit by contributing to the Senate-sponsored canned goods drive. (2) COOKIES THAT WERE DONATED by students and Student Senate members were eaten by the student body during "snack time" on the day before Christmas vacation.

The four major committees, the Executive Committee, the Elections Committee, the Social Committee, and the Project Committee have supplied great assistance to the school. The Executive Committee, composed of the Senate officers, holds special meetings to insure efficient functioning of the group. Toward the close of the year, the Elections Committee held the class officer and Senate elections. The Social Committee planned Parents' Nights after football and basketball games, Homecoming festivities, open house for parents, and the teachers' tea. In order to finance a foreign exchange student for the 1963-64 school term, the Project Committee sponsored a dance and an all-school "Snack Time." During their study hall students were allowed to drink milk and eat cookies for a small donation.

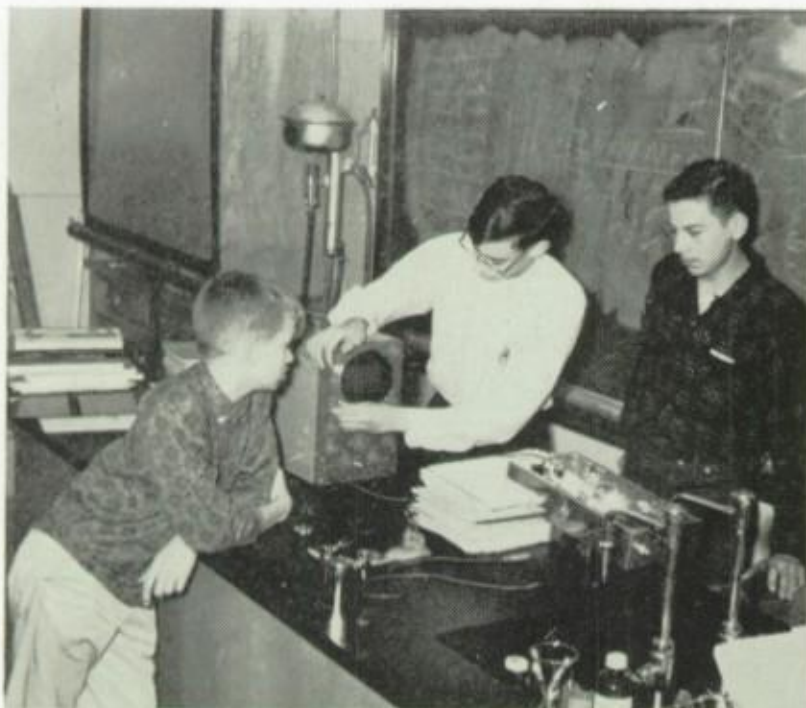

The Senate served as host to other Senate representatives of the Mid-East Conference during the month of February.

Each Senator will agree that he has gained valuable experience. Everyone merits from this "Voice of Democracy."

SENATE MEMBERS MARK WILTERDING and Linda Vanevenhoven consider carefully some of the comments they found in the Student Senate's suggestion box.

Fundamentals in the Fields of Science

(1) VIEWING AN OSCILISCOPE are Electronics Club members Randy Cleveland, Tom Ashenbrenner, and Walter Greene. (2) THE NICOLET CAMERAMAN interrupts Miss Haass and Biology Club officers Judy Lewandowski, Bill Fitzpatrick, and Glee Vitek as they examine a new microscope.

• Because of the variety of interests, the Science Club has sub-divided into three groups. The purpose of these groups is to give students more specialized information in the field of biology, photography, and electronics.

The Biology Club, under the direction of Miss Haass, has had a variety of movies and speakers. These have dealt with the studies of plant and animal life, people and their environments, and the experiences of club members. Other activities of the year included participation in the school's Science Night and a tour of Theda Clark Hospital.

Learning the uses of the camera and related equipment, such as the developer and the enlarger, has been the project of the Camera Club. Earlier in the year members saw film on photographic Christmas cards and experimented with the techniques on cards of their own. Mr. Lenz, the club's adviser, is an avid camera fan himself.

Students in Electronics Club not only learned the basic principles of electricity, but also examined the structure of radios and televisions, participated in projects, and heard lectures presented by Mr. Lenz.

- The main purpose of the Commercial Club is to give girls an understanding of the ways of the business world. Speakers from local industries informed them of the opportunities in the secretarial field.

As they toured offices with their advisers, Miss Daisy Acker and Miss Arlisie Wolff, some of the girls discovered a preference for a certain branch of commercial work.

Through the combined leadership of President Pat Rimmel, Vice President Sue Becker, Secretary Ann Drzewiecki, and Treasurer Jeanne Weyenberg, the club once again planned a Christmas party and an annual spring banquet.

Student Projectionists Aid Our Teachers

- Student Operators is a service organization. Its members render their help to our high school as well as to civic organizations within the Menasha area by running various audio-visual machines.

The officers of this year's Student Operators Club were President Steve Hart, Vice President Terry Kranz, and Secretary-Treasurer Jim Konkol. Meetings were held under the guidance of the club's adviser, Mr. Long, to instruct new members in the mechanics of movie cameras, tape recorders, the silent projector, the film strip machine, and the opaque projector.

The most recent machine added to Menasha High School as a teaching device was the overhead projector. During the past year social studies, social science, and math classes have found this machine to be of great value as a visual aide to learning. The overhead projector was also used for the Thanksgiving and Christmas assembly programs.

• One of the highlights of the year for the Printers Club was their Christmas party. As the printers and their dates arrived, they were greeted by their advisers, Mr. Giles Woolf and Mr. Mark Segebrath, and by the club officers: Tim Carew, president; Tom Konkol, vice president; and Ronald Klapper, secretary-treasurer. Another event was their visit to local firms to increase their knowledge of the printing industry. They viewed job opportunities and found ways to use the techniques which they had seen during their visit, thus enabling them to improve their work.

In addition to printing the Nicolet and the Blue Jay, the printing department supplied programs for various school activities. Among these were athletic events, plays, and concerts. They also sold ice cream bars at the basketball games.

THE GIRLS SEXTET, composed of juniors Barbara Sitter, Barbara Smith, Carole Kichefski, Joanne Kelley, Darlene Schultz, and Cheri Kettleson, sing for school music functions.

- Many students at Menasha High School join the choir, which meets every school day with its director, Mrs. Alberta Doverspike.

Two of the major productions of the choir are the annual Christmas Concert and the Spring Concert. They also contribute to student recitals and special assemblies, such as those given to the student body at Christmas and Thanksgiving. The annual vocal music festival was divided into two sections this year: the festivals for the solo-ensembles at Appleton on March 23 and for the concert groups at Sheboygan on April 20. Dennis Doverspike and Barbara Wessel were among the featured soloists. The girls sextet, composed of Barbara Smith, Barbara Sitter, Darlene Schultz, Carole Kichefski, Cheri Kettleson, and Joanne Kelley, also presented several selections at these performances.

Madrigal Singers Visit Fox Valley Center

- Every Monday and Wednesday noon the Madrigal met in the auditorium for rehearsals to practice songs for the many choral concerts presented throughout the year.

Although the regular Madrigal consisted only of sixteen members, it had more aspiring singers waiting to take the place of a regular whenever a replacement was needed. While singing for the school concerts, the Madrigal strove for perfection and harmony, although at times they may have found this agreement difficult to achieve without piano accompaniment. Madrigal presented for the Fox Valley Center Cultural Club a program which told the history of madrigal groups. Many of the songs sung dated back to the twelfth century. During the year the members also performed for a Charity Benefit concert at Winneconne, school concerts, recitals, and many other school activities.

TWO OF THE CONCERT ACCOMPANISTS, Nancy Yerigan and Barbara Sitter, discuss the musical score while Roxanne Martens and Carole Kichefski decorate the Christmas tree for the Christmas concert.

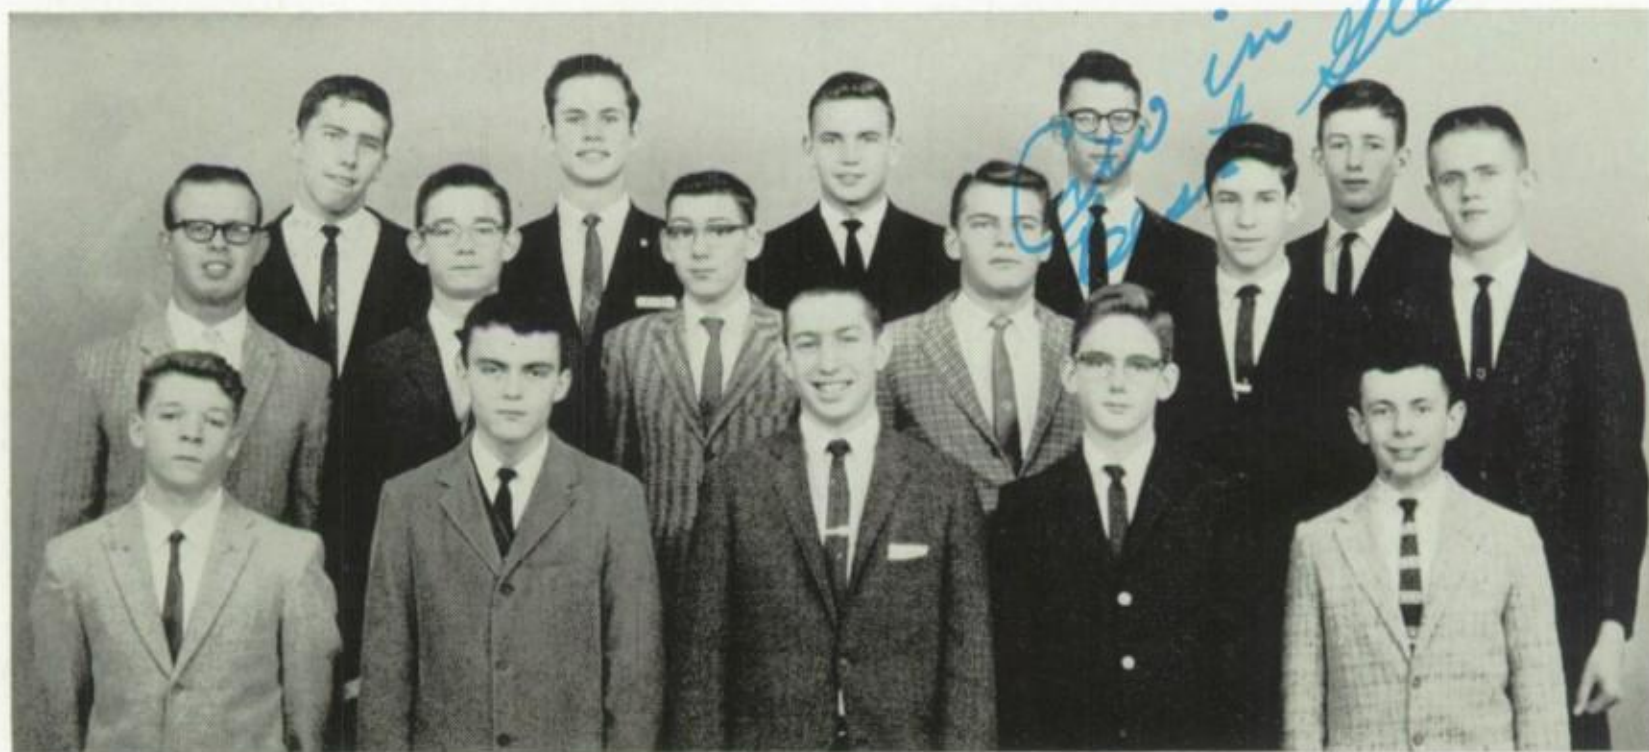

Glee Clubs Perform in Several Concerts

Sheleski, Schomer, Kohler, Kettleson, Wianecki, Doucette.

• During the third hour of every Tuesday and Friday the sounds of many feminine voices floated down the halls from the auditorium stage. These voices composed the Girls Glee Club.

In contrast, the Boys' Glee Club practiced at noon on Tuesday and Thursday. These two musical groups, led by Mrs. Doverspike, performed at the Spring and Christmas Concerts and at festivals.

• With the start of the academic year the MHS Band, directed by Mr. Don Wisnefski, plunged into its activities with many contributions to the football season. Among these were performing at football games and Homecoming activities.

MR. WISNEFSKI gives student director Judy Lewandowski a few helpful hints on the techniques of conducting.

As the weather cooled and December approached, traditional Christmas songs could be heard throughout school as the band practiced for its part in the Christmas Concert. After returning from the Christmas holiday, the band next prepared for its Mid-Winter Band Concert, held in February.

Spring brought two festivals for the band—the District Festival, which featured members of the band playing solos and ensembles; and the Concert Festival, which featured the entire band playing a short concert.

With the coming of May the band prepared for its Annual Spring Concert. At this performance the public had an opportunity to hear the band's Concert Festival selections.

Lettermen Donate New Athletic Equipment

• Major letter winners of Menasha High School formed their organization to promote athletics in our school. The club made plans to present a heat-lamp and blazer to be used by all of the sports departments. The M Club presented the school with the board in the gymnasium which showed the standing of the Mid-Eastern Conference basketball teams this winter. The lettermen used the proceeds from several dances in the spring and after the basketball games to pay for their contributions to the athletic department.

Leading the letter winners this year were Bill Herrbold as president, Rocky Gmeiner as vice president, and John Conway as secretary-treasurer. In all of their activities the M Club's officers and members were guided by their advisers, Coaches Clem Massey and Tom Weede.

Pep Club Adds Zest to Athletic Events

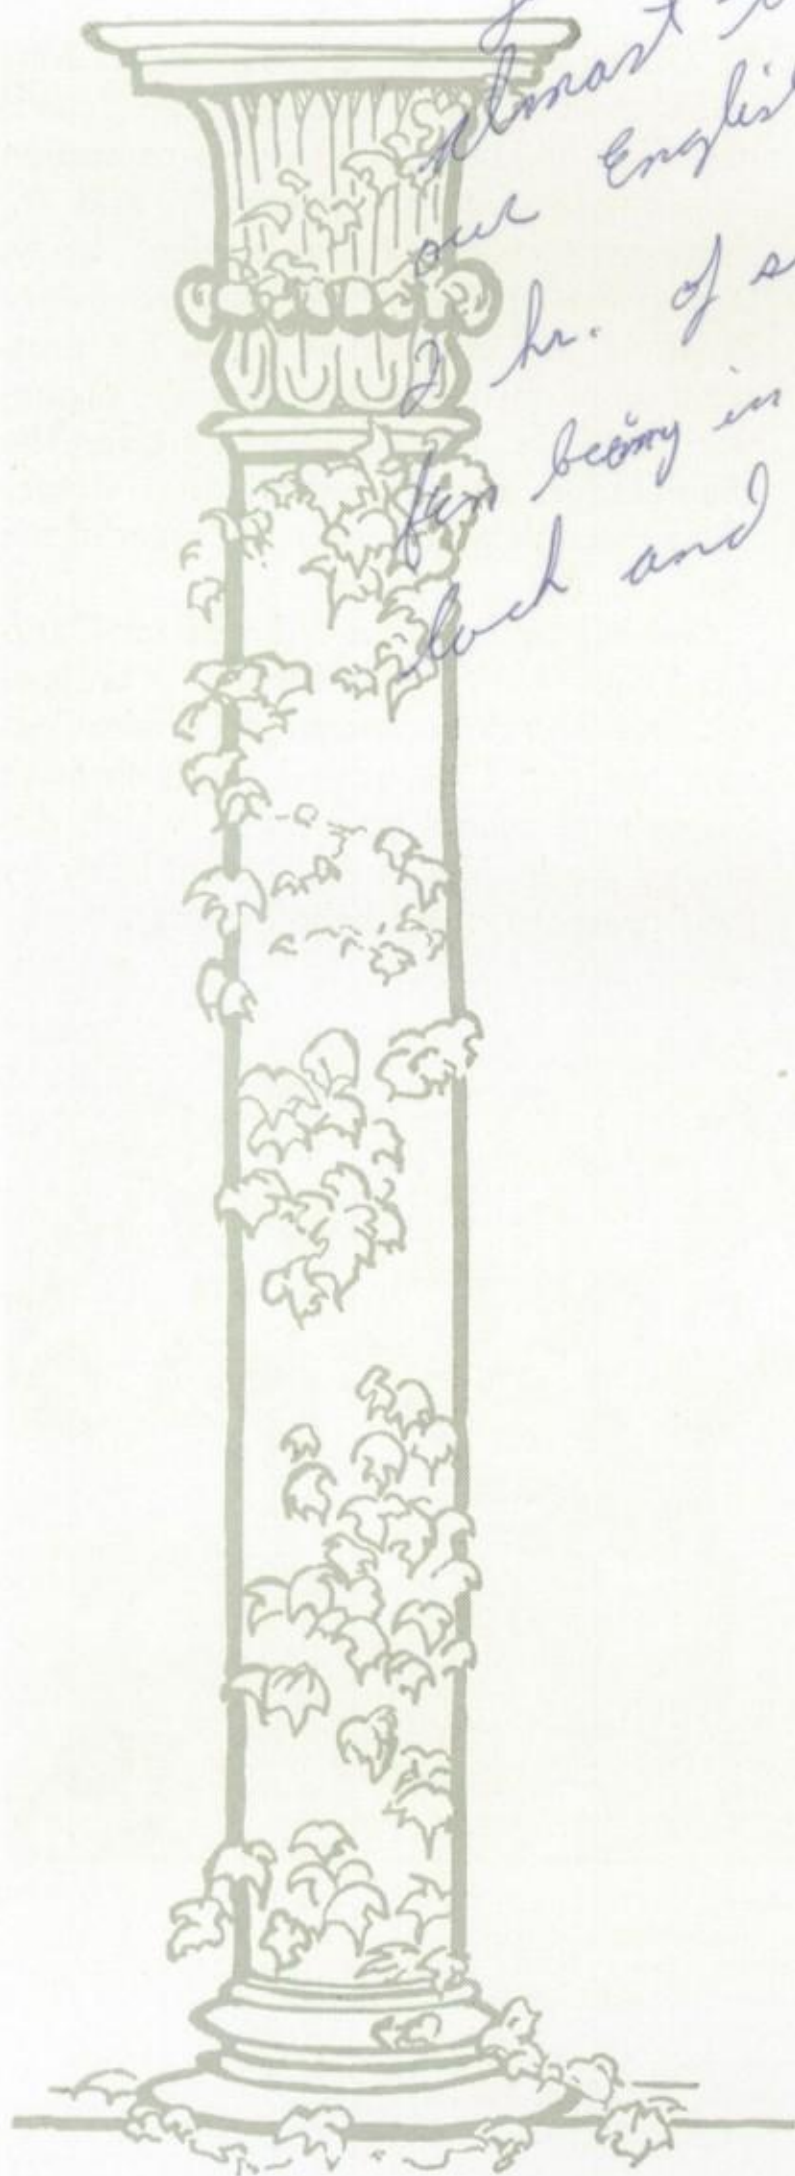

MAKING SIGNS for the many basketball games was a common activity for Pep Club members Barbara Sitter, Carole Kichefski, Connie Coenen, and Georgia Gajewski.

• Under the able assistance of Miss Isabel Schultz, the Menasha High School Pep Club initiated an extensive campaign to promote good sportsmanship and enthusiasm throughout the student body. During the past year the club's activities included the creation of signs, the presentation of pep assemblies, and the organization of the Homecoming Parade. The cheerleaders constructed a large victory hoop through which the team entered the gym.

Guided by its officers, President Georgia Gajewski, Vice President Kris Gajewski, and Secretary-Treasurer Connie Coenen, the Pep Club raised funds through the sale of school pom-poms, which displayed the loyalty of the student body by their presence at basketball games.

ACTIVITIES

TYPICAL OF THE MANY FLOAT ENTRIES in the Homecoming parade was the sophomore float which placed second with the theme "We'll Make Hot Dogs out of the Bulldogs."

The Homecoming Parade Stimulated Spirit

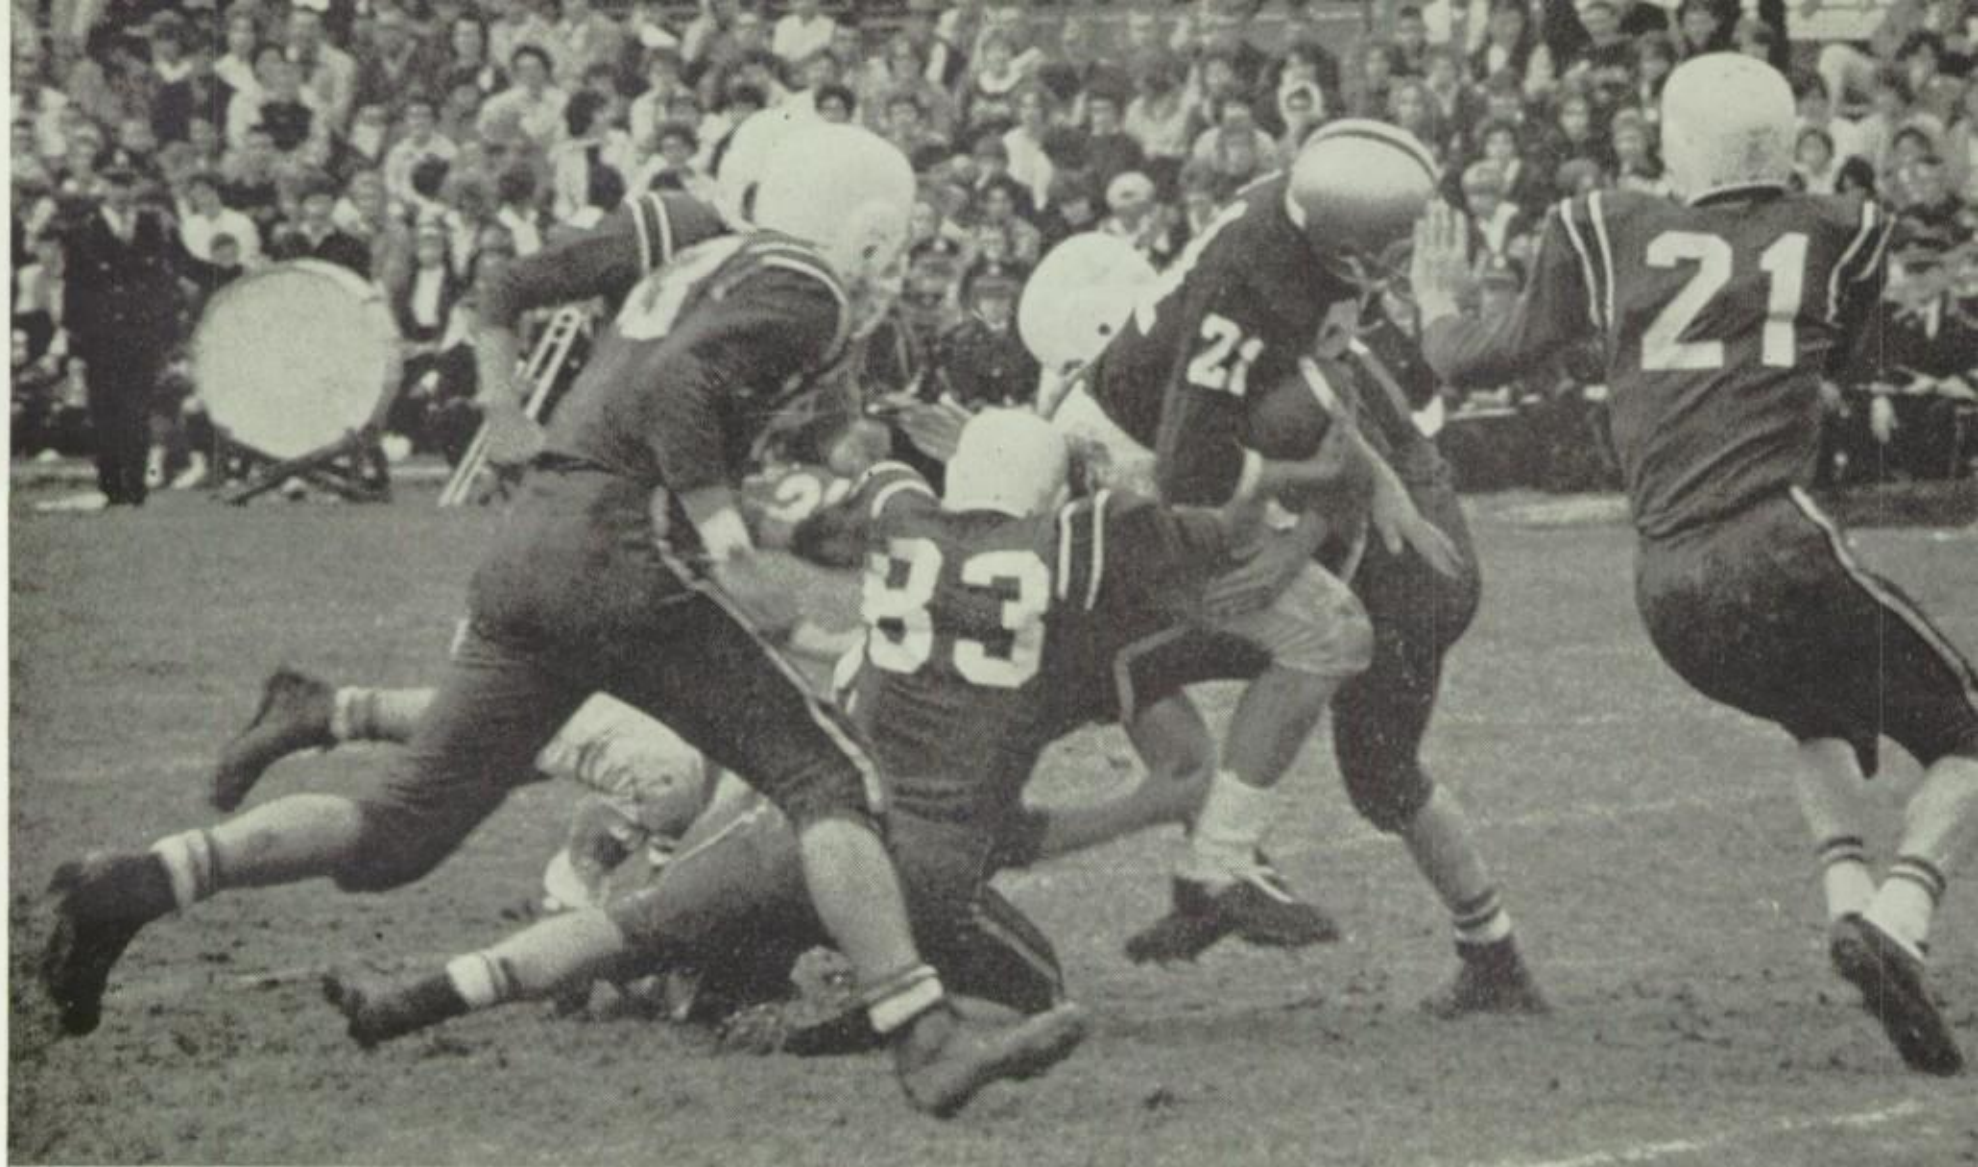

KING ROCKY GMEINER and Queen Rose Ann Swiecichowski ruled over the many colorful activities of the 1962 Homecoming at Menasha High.

- The fifth of October was a chilly night that threatened rain. As participants hopefully watched the sky, eager spectators lined the streets. The band began to play, the floats rocked forward, and the autumn "spectacle" was on its way.

The long hours of careful planning and ambitious building proved worthwhile when, at the bonfire, each class or club learned that their float had won a position from the judges. With "They're Barkin' up the Wrong Tree" as their theme, the Senior Class won first place for the third consecutive year. The Sophomore Class took second place with "We'll Make Hot Dogs out of the Bulldogs", and the Junior Class won third place with "London Bridge is Falling Down" as the theme of their float.

As the burning "N" became just a glowing "N", the happy students went home to rest for the Homecoming game and dance.

ROCKY GMEINER (21) charges through the New London line at the Homecoming game in a successful attempt to gain a few extra yards in a 21-6 victory.

And We Surged Ahead Toward Our Victory

- A beautiful day greeted the spectators as they assembled at the football field. The students were in high spirits for the John Klein presented bouquets to the girls game and cheered as the Bluejays defeated the New London Bulldogs by a score of 21 to 6. During halftime activities Mayor chosen to reign over the events.

Although dry throats and strained vocal cords prevailed during and after the game, good health had returned by the time of the traditional Homecoming all-school dance. The Student Senate-sponsored dance was held in the high school gymnasium from 8 to 12. Music for Football Frolic was provided by Doc Bowers.

The highlight of the evening came when Coach Weede crowned King Rocky Gmeiner and Queen Rose Ann Swiecichowski. Attendants were juniors Tim Leopold and Mary Lehrer and sophomores Dick Sorensen and Pat Garrigan.

Blue Jay Editors Publicize School Events

BLUE JAY EDITORS. Standing: Conway, Wilterding, Schwalbach. Seated: Henke, Brezinski, McKinnon, Bruehl, Dreyer.

which is under the direction of Miss Bienfang, these students have the opportunity to learn the principles of effective journalism and of creative writing.

The editors are chosen not only for their promptness and diligence but also for their sense of responsibility. Among the duties of the editorial staff are planning the various pages, correcting incoming articles, and proofreading galleys. They are always alert for new and different ideas to fill the pages of the tri-weekly newspaper and to make it as correct as possible. Galley and page proofs are examined diligently for errors in the printing or copy. The spelling of names is checked, and Miss Bienfang gives her final approval. All these efforts result in an interesting paper for the student body.

The printing department, advised by Mr. Woolf and Mr. Segebarth, works closely with the editors and Miss Bienfang in publishing and printing the Blue Jay. They often discuss the type of print and the deadlines of the galleys in making the paper journalistically correct.

Through the Efforts of the Journalists

• No school newspaper could be successful without a talented staff of reporters. In writing for the Blue Jay, they must display the qualities of accuracy and dependability, for articles must reach the editors on time and must be ready for print.

After many laborious corrections are completed, the typists prepare the articles to be sent to the printing department. Both the reporters and the typists gain valuable experience and many are rewarded for their work by becoming editors.

By displaying exceptional ability, a reporter is eligible to receive a Quill and Scroll Pin, a badge of honor in his profession. To qualify for this award, the writer must be either a junior or a senior, must have written fifty inches of acceptable copy, and must be in the upper third of his class. Journalism students who qualify receive their pins at the Awards Day assembly.

Literary and Business Staffs Present . . .

• As the year began amidst confusion and noise, the task of creating the largest Nicolet produced at Menasha High School seemed impossible. The first task was the choosing of a theme, followed by deliberation over the design of a cover. Then began many long weeks of layout drawing, picture taking, copy writing, typing, proofreading, and more proofreading.

The theme of the yearbook was a great concern; not only did we have to produce a book, but we had to relate it to one overall thought to be displayed at various stages of the book by means of pictures, drawings, and words.

Deadlines also presented a formidable stumbling block. Each section, complete with heads, captions, and copy, was required to be in to our high school printers on a set date.

It is the hope of the 1963 Nicolet staff and its adviser, Mr. Harry Johnson, that the yearbook produced will bring pride to the high school students.

NICOLET BUSINESS STAFF. Standing: Paulowski, O'Dell, Strong. Seated: Schomer, West, Isakson, Kablean. Absent: Kolakowski, Pawlowski.

• During the fall of the year the Nicolet business staff busied itself by soliciting advertisements from business firms in Menasha, Neenah, and Appleton and by selling subscriptions to the student body. Judy Kolakowski, Connie O'Dell, and Diane Schomer were often seen scurrying to and from school getting ads from generous sponsors. Philip Strong, Tom Pawlowski, and Ernie Paulowski chose to lend their efforts to the sale of Nicolet subscriptions.

The long winter months found other members of the staff occupied in different responsibilities—John West cropping photos for the ad section; Peter Isakson checking proofs; and Carol Kablean typing copy after consultation with Mr. Meyer, staff adviser.

Spring's arrival meant the task of checking sales records and distributing those long-awaited 1963 Nicolets.

School Thespians Captivate Audiences

JUDGE SYLVIA FRAZIER, portrayed by Margo Dreyer, listens as Martin Train, played by John Conway, testifies in behalf of Gary Durant.

• "Before we judge our children, should we not judge ourselves . . ." was the theme of the fall play, "We're All Guilty," by James Reach. On November 20 the Jay Players presented a penetrating look at the present-day problem of juvenile delinquency in American society by portraying a parent who had given his son all material advantages, but not the guidance that would keep him from eventual crime. MARK WILTERDING PROVES to be a willing guinea pig as Mr. Schoening instructs Jeanne Anderson and Kathy Wiancki in the art of theatrical make-up.

• Menasha High School's dramatists have been organized into a group known as the Jay Players since 1951. Prior to that time the group had been known as the Georgeons. To become a Jay Player, aspiring thespians must have actively participated two years in four consecutive plays in addition to having worked twice behind the scenes in such areas as make-up, prompting, lighting, properties, or scenery construction.

Mr. Dalton Schoening, dramatics director, issues a call in late October for the fall play for students desiring experience in developing poise before an audience. Tryouts follow and soon "all the world's a stage." The process is again repeated in late February for the spring play.

Contrary to popular opinion, the relative successes of the two plays are not measured solely in terms of the actors' performances upon the stage. Many volunteered hours of dedicated service backstage merit their share of the applause.

• Ask Any Girl is a three act comedy of a small town girl who becomes a resident in the Madison Avenue Girls Hotel in New York. Enthusiasm Prevails Throughout Forensics

1962 WINNERS ARE DIANE SCHOMER, Judy Sheleski, Jeanne Anderson, Debbie Biggers, Margo Dreyer, Lois Halversen, Dave McCune, Bill Steffin, and Mike LeRoy.

- Menasha High was well represented in forensic activities this year. Many students, under the direction of Mrs. Helen Nemic, participated in the categories of memorized declamation, original oration, non-original oration, extemporaneous speaking, interpretive reading of prose, interpretive reading of poetry, four-minute speech, play reading, and public address.

When giving their selections, contestants were judged on the qualities of effective speaking: poise, voice carriage and tone, eye contact, and characterization.

There were two contests. The first, sponsored by the Northwestern Wisconsin Forensic Association, was a conference meet held in Neenah on March 28. The second, sponsored by the Wisconsin High School Forensic Association, was a series of meets, ranging in importance from League, held March 23, through District, held April 6 at Oshkosh, to State held April 27 in Madison.

• Under the direction of Mr. Richard Badger, the Menasha High School debate teams considered the question, "Resolved: That the United States adopt a policy of reciprocal free trade with non-communist nations." The "A" team consisted of Roger Lawler and Bill Steffin, affirmative; and Pat Kenney and Christine Kuehn, negative. On the "B" team were Larry Seidl and Keineth Dreyer, affirmative; and Dave McCune and Alan Slack, negative. The many freshmen on the "C" team assured a large group of experienced debaters for the next three years.

The teams journeyed to West Bend and Sheboygan for practice debates and then to Kaukauna for the conference meet. Here the "A" and "C" teams placed second in their divisions.

The highlight of the season was the "A" team's success at the district meet in Appleton. Their record at this contest was six wins and no defeats.

• Under a canopy of blue, Menasha High Promenaders danced to the strains of the "Balladaires" in a Dreamland in the Deep. The gymnasium was transferred into an underwater fantasy complete with a coral castle, a rock cave, fish and frogmen, a sunken ship with its treasure, and Neptune's throne decorated with shells.

The climax was the crowning of King Ernie Paulowski and Queen Bonnie Powell by last year's king and queen Jack Robertson and Jane Kletzien. Philip Strong, Hope Hollenbeck, Diane Schomer, and their dates made up the Court of Honor. Preceded by student entertainment and followed by the grand march, this ceremony was the focal point of the evening.

After the movie at the Brin Theater, party-goers attended the Post-Prom festivities at the Menasha Elks Club.

Hi Jim

Well we sure had alot of fun in my high this year to bad I didnt have any other classes with you. Well Lots of Luck in the future and take it easy this summer.

- Contributing time and effort, many students volunteered for the positions of assistance available at Menasha High School.

Seniors in the psychology classes were glad to have the opportunity of helping in Miss Pfund's special education department during the year. The knowledge they acquired by assisting Miss Pfund in educating the slow children will be beneficial in both their home lives and vocations.

Mrs. Nemic was aided extensively by the girls who offered to serve as library helpers. Also preparing for future vocations were the office helpers who often were girls planning to be secretaries.

Assisting the officers were the individual chairmen, Kris Gajewski, soccer; Mary Beth Rae, volleyball; Nancy Hahnen, basketball; Pat Rimmel, softball; Pat Woychik, water pageant; Diane Schomer, badminton; and Carole Kichefski, marathon swimming.

G.A.A.'s highlight was the water pageant, "Mantovani Mermaids." This biennial aquatic presentation was held on the evenings of April 16 and 17. The high school pool was the site of many after-school sessions perfecting the ballets and stunts which were performed to such songs as Sidewalks of New York, Clementine, and Meet Me in St. Louis. • Over one hundred boys participated in this year's intramural program. The program included touch football in the fall, basketball and bowling in the winter, and volleyball and softball in the spring. All sports were under the direction of high school teachers.

Supervised by Mr. Pelton, one of the newest sports added to the intramural program was touch football. Thirty boys showed interest in this sport, so four teams were organized. Captains of these teams were Jim Koslowski, Colts; Dave Ross, Titans; Chuck Thompson, Lions; and Dale Dexheimer, Eagles. Posting five wins against no losses, the Titans garnered the league championship. In a post-season game, the Titans defeated the All-Stars by a 2-0 score. Players chosen to represent the All-Stars were Gary Smolinski, Dan Usky, Jim Wingrove, Tony Slomski, Dennis LaCount, Greg Kippenhan, Jerry Akstulewicz, and Ernie Paulowski.

Under the direction of Mr. Pelegrin and Mr. Moegenburg, two intramural basketball leagues were formed. Nine teams composed the major league while five were entered in the minor league. As the major league season came to a close, the Stuffers and Doctors tied for first place with a seven win and one loss record. In the play-off game the Stuffers copped the league championship by recording a 50-47 victory over the Doctors as John Ashenbrenner hit 20 points for the winners.

Another new addition to the intramural program was bowling, under the guidance of Mr. Segebarth and Mr. Knox. Ten teams were organized, and the keggers rolled for their teams every Thursday night after school. Highlight of the year was the tournament. Trophy winners included Bob Sipin (first singles) and Dave Ross and Dave Brodzinski (first doubles).

With the coming of spring, many boys participated in volleyball and softball.

Winter Enthusiasts Create M.H.S. Ski Club

• Under the expert guidance of Mr. Frank Meyer, the newly-formed Menasha High School Ski Club was off to a roaring start.

In general, this was a year for the beginners, who made up a large portion of the club. The trips, planned by John West and Pete Isakson under the leadership of the president, Randy Melson, included Rib Mountain, Nor-Ski Ridge, Cascade Mountain, and Pine Mountain, which are all havens for the beginning and the intermediate skier. Mr. Weede, who served as an able instructor, gave lessons to the new skiers as well as those more advanced in the sport.

Margo Dreyer, the artist of the club, designed a school ski patch, which all the members were proudly wearing by the end of the season.

AN EXPERIENCED SKIER, Mr. Weede expertly demonstrates the fine art of falling. After considerable practice his attentive audience caught on.

Cheerleading Squad Initiates New Yells

• The Menasha High School cheerleaders worked hard to promote more enthusiasm in the student body. The Varsity squad consisted of Rose Ann Swiecichowski, Jeanne Anderson, and Cassie Bachhuber, all of whom had had three years of cheering prior to this year; Diane Schomer and Ann Drzewiecki, with two years of previous cheering; and Kris Gajewski, with one year of experience.

This year each cheerleader had an opportunity to act as captain for a week.

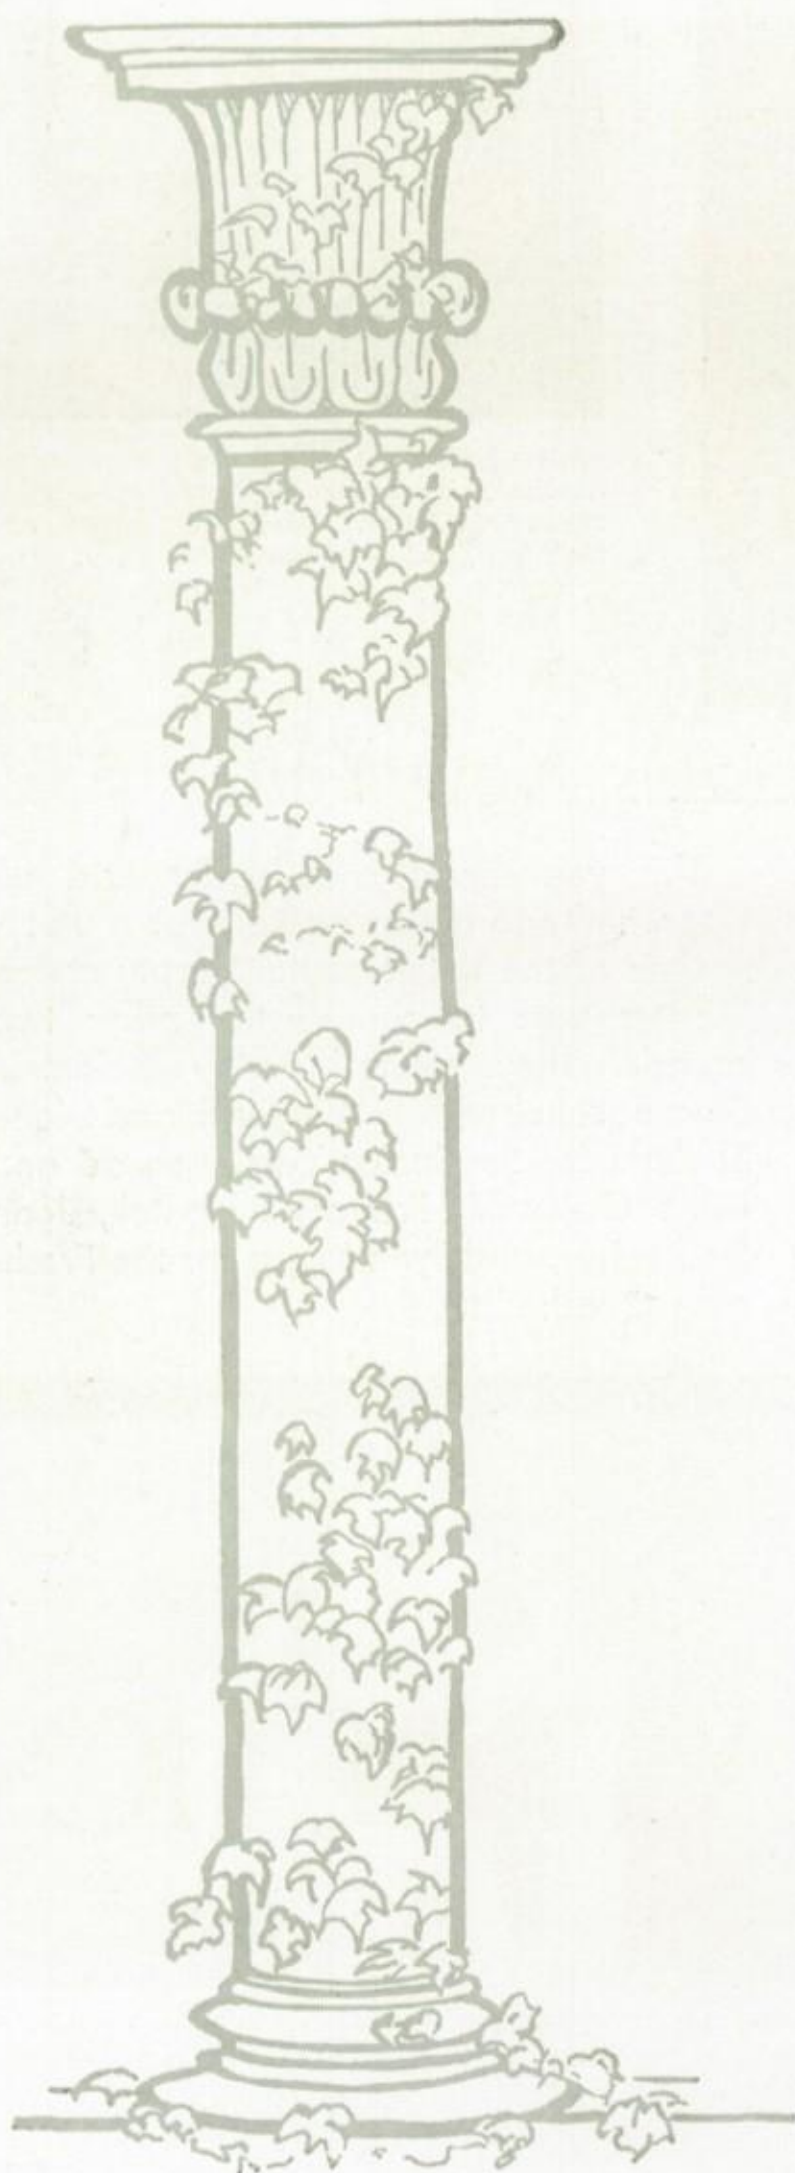

One of the duties of the Varsity cheerleaders was to choose the other two squads. They elected Kathy Swiontek, Sara Bachhuber, Sue Wiegand, and Diane Sheleski for the Junior Varsity squad and Katie Gajewski, Frances Swiontek, Jean Bachhuber, and Lynn Kluba for the Freshman squad.

• Under new coach Tom Weede, the Menasha High football team posted its best mark since 1958 by recording three wins and five losses, including 3-4 in the M-E conference. The Bluejays were hampered by injuries to key players throughout the year.

Following successive losses to Appleton, Kaukauna, and Neenah, the Blue and White tasted victory for the first time by copping the homecoming game against New London. Rocky Gmeiner led the attack with two touchdowns. The next week the Jays traveled to Kimberly and upset the Papermakers by a 12-7 score. After defeats to Shawano and Two Rivers, the Bluejays ended the season by edging Clintonville 19-18. Reserve quarterback Bob Sipin played an outstanding game.

BLUEJAY SPOTTERS John Conway, Jim Ristau, Jim Koslowski, Bill Steffin, and Bob Klapper check the charting results of a recent game.

- Plagued by injuries and illnesses throughout the year, Coach Massey's varsity basketball team compiled an 8-11 record, including 6-8 in the Mid-East Conference, which was good for a fifth place tie. The Bluejays were 2-2 against non-conference foes and dropped their only tournament game.

After an opening loss to Manitowoc, the Blue and White defeated West DePere and Appleton, then dropped a 69-55 verdict to Preble. The Jays initiated conference play by bowing to Shawano by a 48-44 count, then picked up two wins in a row at the expense of Clintonville and Kaukauna. The following games saw the Jays drop successive tilts to Neenah, Two Rivers, and Kimberly before they finally defeated New London, 57-39. The next week the Menashans lost to Shawano, then picked up two victories over Clintonville, 67-55, and Kaukauna, 65-54. Having been defeated by Neenah, Two Rivers, and Kimberly, the Bluejays closed the regular season by dumping New London 67-53.

Earn Six Hard-Fought Victories

TEAMMATES ROCKY GMEINER, Mark Pawlowski, and Jim Walter combine efforts as they out-rebound Neenah opponents. In the background Forward Bill Herrbold awaits further developments.

The Jays lost their only tournament game to the Neenah Rockets by a 77-66 score. Trailing 48-45 going into the fourth quarter, the Jays' hopes of another upset bid dimmed when two starters, Tom Konkol and Bill Herrbold, fouled out. The highlight of the year was a double victory over the Clintonville Truckers by scores of 67-55 and 65-42. The Clints later copied the regional and sectional titles to earn a berth in the W.I.A.A. State Basketball Tournament at Madison.

Tom Konkol, who shot better than 40% from the floor, was named the team's Most Valuable Player in addition to being chosen on the All-Conference first team. Konkol and Bill Herrbold were chosen co-captains, and junior Jim Walter was elected most improved.

Players who scored more than one hundred points included Konkol with 324, Herrbold with 171, Dean Ristau with 161, and Walter, the highest scoring underclassman, with 101. Ristau was the leading rebounder with 116, Herrbold was second with 92, and Walter had 91.

At a special awards program on March 29, Coach Massey presented major letter awards to five seniors, five juniors, three managers, and two trainers. Senior letter winners included Tom Konkol, Bill Herrbold, Phil Strong, Dean Ristau, and Rocky Gmeiner; juniors receiving letters were Mark Pawlowski, Jim Walter, Barry Conway, Pat Kenney, and Bob Wendt. Manager awards were presented to seniors Jim Koslowski and Pete Sorensen, and sophomore David Sommers. Roger Herman and Ralph Swoboda received trainer awards.

With five lettermen returning for the '63-'64 season plus a good crop of sophomores who played on the champion Junior Varsity team, Coach Massey can look forward to another fine season.

• With the loss of Tom Vanderhyden and Don Steffin to the Jayvee team, the Menasha Freshman basketball team failed to pick up a victory while suffering twelve straight defeats. The Baby Blues were 0-10 in league play and 0-2 against non-conference competition. Following an opening loss to Fox Valley Lutheran by a 40-33 score, the Jays lost to Neenah by a 42-34 count as they failed to outplay their taller opponents. Defeated by Roosevelt, Madison, and Wilson, the Blue and White lost a heart-breaker to St. John of Little Chute, 44-41. In an attempt to break a nine game losing streak, the Menashans were upended a second time by Roosevelt, 40-38, in their best performance of the year.

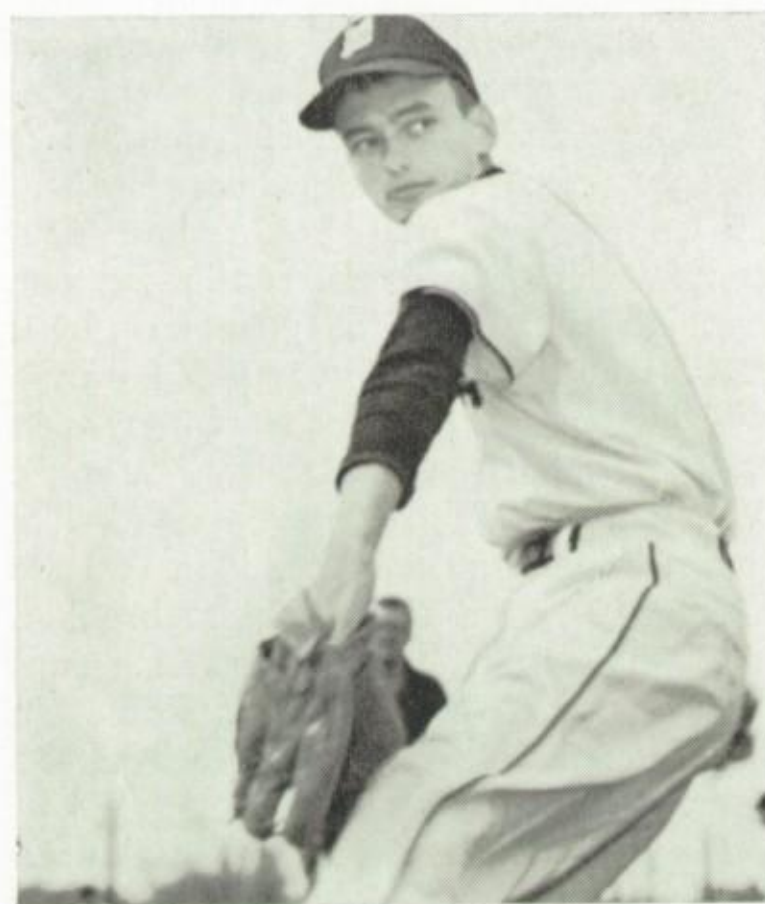

Dave Christensen led the balanced scoring attack with 86 points. Paul Blohm was second with 84, and Dan Hoks followed with 23.

Gain Tie for Second in Conference

SLIDING INTO THIRD BASE SUCCESSFULLY, George Massey beats the throw from the outfield during the Jay victory against Clintonville.

CENTER FIELDER KEN STUMPF is caught in mid-air as he scored in a losing battle with the New London Bulldogs at the Menasha field.

- With only five lettermen returning, Coach Massey's baseball team compiled a 5-5 overall record, including a 4-3 slate in the Mid-Eastern Conference.

After a 2-0 loss to Hortonville and a last inning 4-3 win over Waupaca, the Blue and White opened conference play by nipping Shawano, 7-6. Following a victory over Clintonville, the Bluejays traveled to Kaukauna where they dealt an 8-5 loss to the Ghosts. The next tilt saw the Menashans suffer their first conference setback at the hands of Neenah. Dropping successive games to Two Rivers and New London, the Jays dumped Kimberly. A 5-0 loss to Neenah in the district playoffs of the state tourney ended the season.

Dave Erdmann proved to be the Most Valuable player by recording a 3-3 pitching slate. Erdmann also led the team in hitting with a .385 average. Defensively, freshman Terry Haack played sparkling ball at his shortstop position.

WATCHING THE PITCHER INTENTLY, outfielder Ken Stumpf leads off first base.

LETTERMAN GEORGE SCOVRONSKI, running a leg of the medley relay in a triangular meet against Shawano and Kaukauna, outdistances an opponent from Kaukauna.

• Facing a tough seven-meet schedule for the 1962 season, the forty-one-member Menasha High track team, coached by Mr. VandenBoogaard and Mr. Boyce, placed first in one triangular, second in two others, and lost their only dual of the season to Neenah. The Blue and White were fifth in the Mid-Eastern Conference meet at Neenah and third in a field of five teams in the Papermaker Relays at Kimberly during the last week of May.

Following a second in their first triangular meet of the year against Clintonville and New London, the Bluejays lost a dual to Neenah, and then tasted victory by coping their first triangular win in four years as they defeated the Shawano Indians and Kaukauna Ghosts. The regular season came to a close when the Jays gained another second against the Two Rivers and Kimberly entries.

Top individual efforts of the year included Bill Stuck, who came within six inches of breaking the school shot-put re-

Netters Reign as Sectional Champs

TENNIS TEAM. Top row: Coach Kenney, Isakson, Gooding, Bauman, Bass, Hart, B. Conway, Cook. Bottom row: Gajewski, Haber, Grant, Kringle, P. Kenney, J. Conway.

• Under Coach Leo Kenney the 1962 edition of the Menasha High School tennis team completed another highly successful season. Winning nine matches while losing only four during the regular season, the Bluejay netters went on to capture the sectional title in contests at the Oshkosh courts and to tie for third place in the State meet.

In a pre-season practice meet with the Lawrence College freshman team, the Jay netters dueled to an 8-1 victory, losing only in the No. 3 doubles.

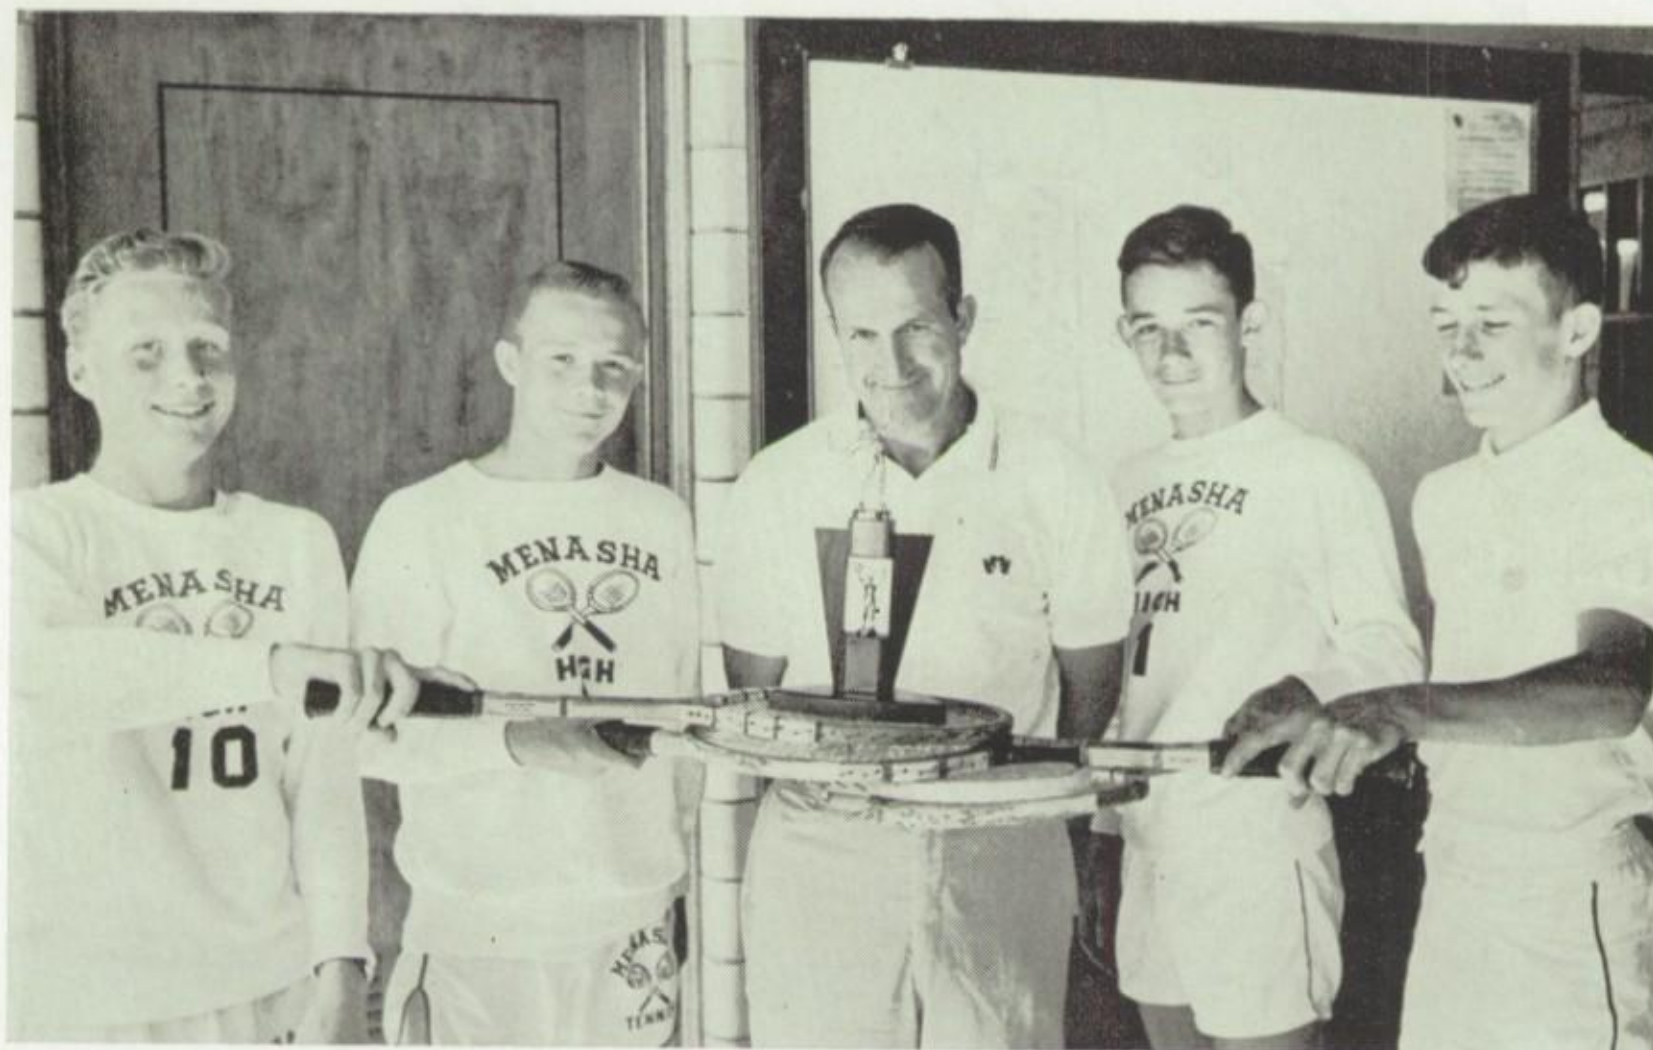

The Jay tennis players opened the season with six straight wins, then lost to the Neenah Rockets by a score of 4-3. Following a victory over the Shawano Indians, they fell to the Manitowoc Shipbuilders, the 1962 state champs, by a 6-1 verdict. After two triumphs the Jay netmen were defeated by Waukesha, 5-4, on the latter's home courts. A week later they dropped a 4-3 decision to the Neenah Rockets.

Despite their four setbacks during the regular season, the Jays came back strong in the State tennis tournament by copping the sectional title in Oshkosh as Barry Conway defeated teammate Pat Kenney in the singles final.

Brighter things were yet to come as the Jay netters entered the State meet at Neenah. Pat Kenney upset No. 1 ranked Dave Kablitz of Manitowoc and went on to take third place in the singles competition. Barry Conway forced the future state singles champion, Mickey Szilagyi, to grueling duce sets before falling, 11-9, 7-5. As a result, Menasha and Janesville tied for third place with eighteen points

In Appreciation of Mike

The members of the 1963 Nicolet staff wish to express their sincere gratitude to the merchants of the Tri-City area who have shown their interest in our publication by contributing generously to our annual. Special thanks is extended to the George Banta Company for its aid in typographic selection; Northwestern Engraving Company for its engraving help; and the Furman Studio, Mr. Lenz, of the high school faculty, and the Appleton Post-Crescent for their photographic help.

We also wish to offer our thanks to the faculty and the members of the student body for making our 1963 Nicolet a reality.

Peter Isakson, Business Manager
Hope Hollenbeck, Editor-in-Chief
